Today was Round-Table Discussion and visiting prospective members

A great turnout of members for our meeting today. There were extra tales set up because of anticipated visiting guests and most of the chairs were occupied. Thank you for the many positive comments and conversations which highlighted the obvious connections and camaraderie that are enjoyed by our members. It definitely displayed a very positive atmosphere for the guests. A special thanks to members: Phil Houser; David Rodriguez; Jim Asperger; Kit Turpen;

Mark Tobaisen; Steven Douglas; Mike Edwards; Jeff Sakamoto; and Robert Biernacki. These members each brought a guest to breakfast. Those guests represented a wide variety of businesses, including a:

- Co-op food kitchen providing local food producers with a place to show their wares
- Mechanical / Electrical/ Plumbing engineer.
- Manufacturers' Rep for commercial heating and air conditioning units
- Clinical Therapist with special experience in working with children's trauma, anxiety, panic & family relationships
- Home or business renovation and facilities re-design, or re-purposing of space.

- Company that specializes in packing and crating of household items and large machinery.
- Regional business merger and acquisitions company that will represent either buying or selling companies
- Advertising Magazine that uses print and internet media for the promotion of client companies

We appreciate the guests taking the time to visit our meeting. We are always interested in the addition of a quality member to our organization. Dale's ranch hands will be branding cattle on Saturday and EAGA members are welcome to assist—and participate in the BBQ following the branding.

To join the Bash Committee, contact Pat Maloy or Dan Mowery. They are always glad to share the experience.

PUZZLE: Can you understand the logic of these equations and use it to solve this one: ? + ? = 123

6+4=210 9+2=711 8+5=313 5+2=37 7+6=113 9+8=117 10+6=416 15+3=1218

To recreate the equations, concatenate the results from subtracting the two left-side numbers with the addition of those numbers example: 6-4 concatenated with 6+4 yields 2 and 10 therefore 210. Answer to the ? + ? = 123 12+11=123
